I hope everyone had a very good holiday over the Christmas and New Year period. Firstly I would like to apologise for the lateness of this issue. However, I hope you will find it's bumper size and content ample compensation.

It's actually late, not due to lack of information, but rather too much of it. Coupled with a full time job, an active research schedule and computer programming jobs, I am finding that the most valuable commodity is time. This brings me to the raising of consciousness, the approaching New Age, The Shift, The Awakening - whatever you want to call it.

I believe, along with many others to whom I have spoken, that time is actually speeding up. Perhaps this is proof of something beyond our comprehension actually starting to take place, but if you sit back and think about it I'm sure you'll agree that time seems to be passing at an alarming rate.

How often do you hear the phrase "There are not enough hours in the day"? Perhaps there are not any more....

Scientists have said that "Time is relative", but what to? Physicists refer to space-time, and indeed Einstein regarded time as inexplicably linked to space. If space is expanding, as many scientists believe, then perhaps time is shrinking.

Perhaps, as we near the Millennium, the date of ancient predictions, the end of the current Mayan Great Cycle, The Shift - as New Age people refer to it, perhaps we are speeding it up ourselves. Perhaps time is relative to our own perception of it.

We create our own realities, so perhaps we create our own space-time as well. More on this interesting topic in future issues.

I was also pondering on the UFO Awareness issue. Have you noticed that a lot of UFO researchers have been saying "There is about to be an announcement", or "Bill Clinton is going to make a declaration", or "1997 will see the end of the UFO Coverup"?

Well, 1997 may have been the 50th anniversary of the "Flying Saucer" - as coined by Kenneth Arnold, and the 50th Anniversary of Roswell, but the Governments of the world still kept as tight-lipped as they always have done. I want to declare 1998 as "UFO Awareness Year", but in order to do that, we require positive, action, BY US!!!!

1997 was yet another bumper year for crop formations, with over 100 designs appearing the the UK alone. In fact, we witnessed some of the most elaborate designs ever, in the fields of Wiltshire and Hampshire.

As usual, I tried to visit as many formations as possible, and as quickly after creation as was practical, in order to carry out my scientific testing. Because I am testing for sensitive electromagnetic (EM) fluctuations, I really need to visit formations as soon as possible, before too many visitors alter the energy levels.

From careful testing over the years I have detected the fact that people themselves will affect the readings I get from my sensitive equipment, so in order to get uncontaminated results I need to visit new crop formations ideally within a day of creation.

From over five years of monitoring the background EM energy inside and around crop formations I have come to the conclusion that the genuine ones exhibit some kind of temporary 'warp' in the EM field. Because the levels we are dealing with are very small, people visiting the formation will affect the levels. The first formation I tested which led me to believe that people alter the levels was the 'Charm bracelet' formation which appeared a couple of fields northwest of Silbury Hill in August 1992 (fig.1).

I was one of a group of about eight people who were the first people into this formation and I got some interesting results on my 'gizmo' (see Enigma issue 1)

By interesting I mean that I got 'normal' readings outside the formation, yet when I entered the formation I got no readings at all. The signal fell to zero indicating a complete lack of electrical energy - sort of as if the formation had been 'earthed'. However, after about an hour I found that one region around the southern side of the formation started to give readings.

This initially puzzled me, but I then realised that this was the area in which we had put our camera bags, equipment and coats etc. Therefore had received more 'human' activity around it. If the readings could be affected to this level after only an hour of us carefully moving around the formation, then imagine the effect after a few days worth of sightseers.

(Original survey by J.Martineau)

Since 1992 I have been refining and improving my original gizmo and in 1996 I invested in some commercial Radio Frequency (RF) detection equipment of the kind used for military 'bug' detection.

This piece of equipment (the OPTO Electronics Scout) will give a digital indication of the RF signals in the proximity of the handheld meter. Although the equipment has various levels of filter on it, in order to 'lock on' to a potentially strong signal - such as a real 'bugging device', I was using it in the non-filtering mode, which is also its most sensitive. In this way there is a constantly fluctuating display of RF background frequency.

In laymans terms this is displaying the frequency of the hiss you get on the radio when you are not tuned into a radio station. Depending upon the terrain and local landscape (and proximity of local radio stations) the background 'count' is generally between 100 and 600 million cycles per second, or MHz.

By carefully monitoring the area around crop circles I can get an idea of the background frequency being detected, and store the values on a portable computer. Then, when I enter a crop formation with the equipment I can monitor whether or not the frequency deviates from the average background reading by much of a percentage.

I try to do this testing in every crop circle I visit, although I have found that you need to get to a circle location as soon as possible after creation because people walking around the formation will affect the readings quite dramatically - as I discovered in the 1992 Silbury Hill formation.

The first formation that gave me some interesting results was one that appeared at the end of June '97 near Danebury Ring (see fig.2), just south of Andover. Unfortunately, because the farmer didn't want too many visitors I didn't manage to visit the formation until about three weeks after creation - by which time nothing conclusive could be gained.

There was however, a very faint difference between the readings inside the formation and those outside which made me believe that had I got there earlier I might have got some more interesting results.

Around the field outside the formation the readings were around 300-400MHz. which was quite a narrow band of frequencies. However, as I entered the formation, the display started indicating frequencies of between 200 and 600MHz, giving a much expanded bracket of frequencies. As I said however, the readings were fluctuating quite a lot and no really conclusive evidence could be gained - due to my personal high demands on accuracy when taking readings. Worth a quick mention though!

The first formation which gave very interesting, and anomalous, readings was one of the most elaborate formations to appear during the season of 1997 - and arguably ever in the history of crop circles. This formation (fig.3) appeared on the 23rd July in the field just to the north of Silbury Hill near Avebury in Wiltshire.

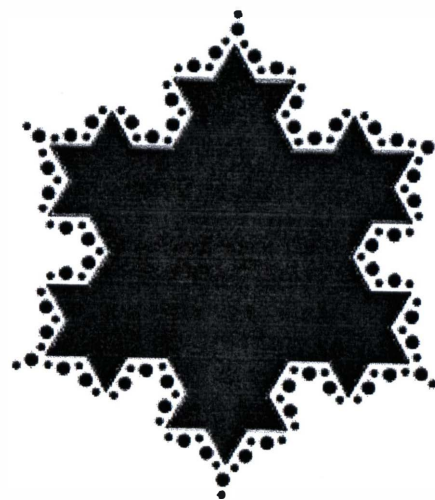

Fig.3 The Silbury Hill 'Koch' formation
Diagram: © Paul Vigay

This shape is known as the 'Koch' fractal, the mathematics are beyond the scope of this article, but basically the Koch curve is defined as "the fractal curve of Hausdorff Dimension $\ln 4 / \ln 3$, whose generator is formed by erecting an equilateral triangle on the middle third of a straight line". Fig.4 shows the first four iterations of this fractal, as calculated by computer.

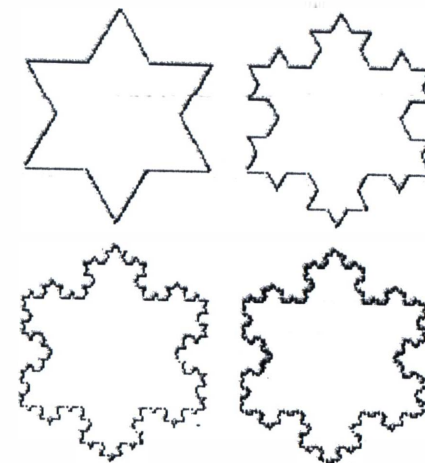

Fig.4 The first four iterations of the Koch fractal.
Diagram: © Paul Vigay

As you can see, the Koch curve is built upon a six pointed star. Six fold geometry played a prevalent part in the formations of 1997, as a high percentage were designed around six fold shapes.

Again, it was two or three days before I was able to visit the Koch formation in person, so I was lucky to achieve some quite remarkable results with my equipment.

I started walking towards the formation with the equipment turned on. I was picking up a background radio frequency of around 400-500MHz, which was reasonably normal.

However, as soon as I entered the formation I saw that the readings suddenly dropped - quite dramatically - down to around 300 MHz and even lower as I walked across the formation.

On exiting the formation the other side, the readings went back up to around 500MHz. This intrigued me enough to start logging the results with the aim of plotting an accurate graph of readings.

I not only take readings at various points inside and outside a formation, but also at various heights from the ground; one at ground level, another at approx. 1m above ground level and a third at 2m above ground level. This gives a fairly accurate representation of the RF levels in and around the formation.

On average, the RF background level was about 200-300MHz lower inside the formation than the readings outside the formation. I currently have no explanation for this, but believe that these readings are enough to warrant continued research into RF anomalies inside crop formations.

When I returned home, I decided to plot accurately the results I had measured, so that I could see any RF fluctuations graphically. The resulting graph is shown in figure 5. As you can see, there was quite a dramatic change in the background RF inside the formation.

For clarity I have stacked the bars in the graph with the 2m readings in the foreground because RF readings are generally higher the closer to the ground you put the sensor. The most dramatic (and anomalous) readings were the ones given at about waist height, or around 1m from the ground.

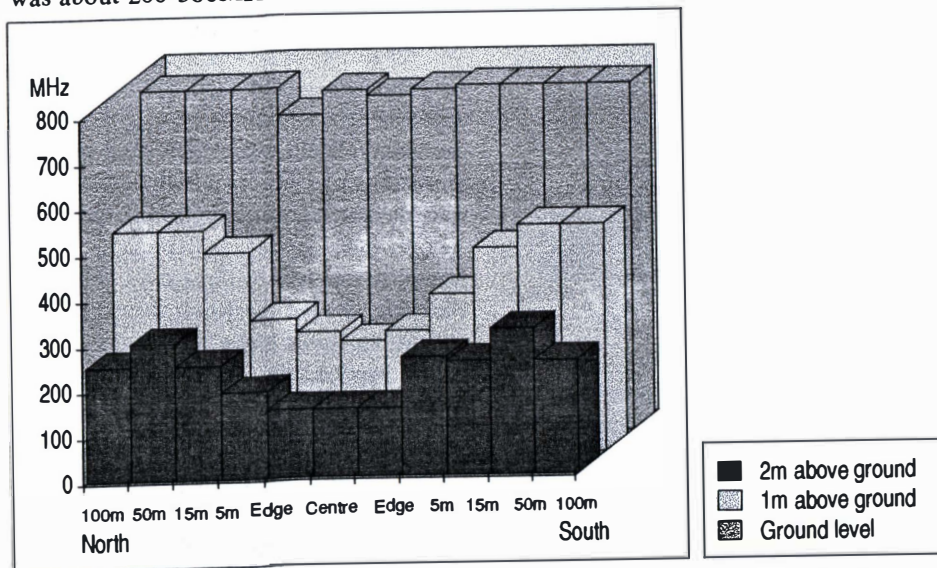

Fig.5 Average background Radio Frequency in and around the Silbury Hill Koch fractal formation. Diagram: © Paul Vigay

From experimentation I've found that there almost seems to be a band about a metre wide, centred at around waist height which gives the most noticeable readings.

No sooner than the crop circle community had been amazed and impressed by the Silbury Hill formation, another one soon appeared approximately five miles to the south, just below the white horse on Milk Hill near Alton Barnes.

This second Koch fractal was discovered on the 8th August. Although slightly smaller in diameter, it looked more elaborate due to a miniature version of the Koch curve left standing in the centre (fig.6).

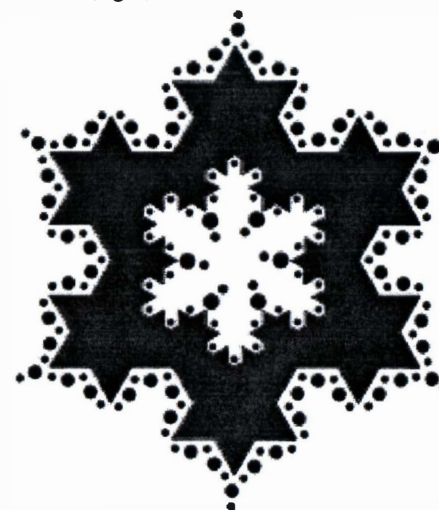

Fig.6 The Milk Hill 'Koch' formation Diagram: © Paul Vigay

This second Koch formation was very untidy on the ground when I visited it (the day after creation) but again I got some interesting RF anomalies inside the formation. This was interesting because not only did I detect something on my RF meter, but I could also listen to an audible interference signal on a wide band radio receiver. Normally a steady hiss comes from the speaker - very similar to that heard from a TV if you unplug the aerial and turn the volume up.

However, inside this formation there were certain areas that gave a distinctive 'hum' when you walked around it. These seemed to be in lines going roughly north-south through the formation. However, the hum stopped immediately I got to the edge of the formation.

The second surprise was that a few minutes after I entered the formation, an elderly gentleman entered the formation with some dowsing rods. He proceeded to do his own dowsing oblivious to what I was doing. After a while he spotted me and came over to enquire as to what I was doing. When I told him, he suggested that I try a particular spot - which I did.

To our joint surprise, I got the recognisable hum again and managed to trace it in a line exactly corresponding to a line he had previously dowsed. It now seemed that whatever my equipment was picking up was perhaps a similar energy to that picked up by dowsers. This was getting interesting.

We continued wandering around the formation confirming that there were indeed two roughly straight lines going through the formation (fig.7) which made the dowsing rods react as well as produce a humming noise on my equipment.

Fig.7 The Milk Hill 'Koch' formation, showing bands of RF 'hum'.

Diagram: © Paul Vigay

I never like declaring any particular formation to be 'genuine' or 'hoaxed' because I believe in sharing notes and letting people come to their own conclusions, but certainly both the Koch fractal formations seemed to give repeatable anomalous results on my RF equipment. Make of that what you will!

The last elaborate fractal formation of the year appeared on August 18th at Hackpen Hill, north of Avebury. This was similar to the Silbury and Milk Hill formations except that it was based upon a three sided triangle (fig. 8) rather than a six pointed star.

Unfortunately, I wasn't able to visit this formation personally before it was harvested, so no readings were obtained.

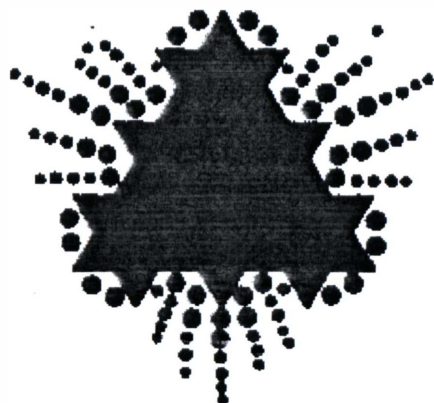

Fig.8 Hackpen Hill fractal formation
Diagram: © John Sayer

Although 1997 was a bumper year for crop circles, I must confess that only a very small percentage of formations gave me personally 'good vibes'. Of course, feelings experienced whilst visiting formations are totally subjective and personal, so no conclusions can be gained from this perspective.

However, I would be very interested to hear any personal reports from Enigma subscribers relating any interesting experiences witnessed during the 1997 season.

Finally, I would also like to thank John Sayer for giving me permission to use a couple of his diagrams to illustrate this article. For those of you who are interested, he has produced an excellent Enigma sized booklet containing diagrams of all the 1997 formations. This is available by sending a cheque for £5.00 to "John Sayer", Clements Farm, Wheatley, Bordon, Hants., GU35 9PA

The Cold Within

Six humans trapped by happenstance
In black and bitter cold.
Each one possessed a stick of wood,
Or so the story's told.

Their dying fire in need of logs,
The first woman held hers back
For on the faces around the fire
She noticed one was black.

The next man looking 'cross the way
Saw one not of his church,
And couldn't bring himself to give
The fire his stick of birch.

The third one sat in tattered clothes
He gave his coat a hitch.
Why should his log be put to use
To warm the idle rich?

The rich man just sat back and thought
Of the wealth he had in store.
And how to keep what he had earned
From the lazy poor.

The black man's face bespoke revenge
As the fire passed from his sight,
For all he saw in his stick of wood
Was a chance to spite the white.

And the last man of this forlorn group
Did naught except for gain.
Giving only to those who gave
Was how he played the game.

The logs held tight in death's still hands
Was proof of human sin.
They didn't die from the cold without,
They died from the cold within.

New Evidence of Anti-Gravity

Researchers at the Faculty of Engineering at Tohoku University may have finally discovered the secret of Anti-Gravity, or so they hope...

Hideo Hayasaka*, Haruo Tanaka*, Toshiyuki Hashida*, Tokushi Chubachi* and Toshiki Sugiyama have recently published the results of some experiments involving free-falling spinning gyroscopes.

An interesting effect was noted in that the anti-gravity effect seemed to be different in the left or right spinning around an axis.

The experimental system was composed of the following main parts:

- (a) fall-tower of 300 cm in height,
- (b) five pairs of laser apparatus placed at upper, middle, and lower positions along

- the fall-tower,
- (c) two time-counters (two frequency-counters with accuracy of 10^{-6} sec) which were inserted between the upper and middle position, and between the upper and lower position, respectively,
- (d) a gate circuit for (c),
- (e) an electro-magnet, and
- (f) a drive apparatus of a gyro whose rotor-mass, radius, and inertial moment are 175g, 2.9cm, and 969.5gcm.

Various techniques have been used in order to make the capsule enclosing the gyro fall exactly along the vertical axis.

The main results are summarized in the following:

The mean value of the difference between $g(R)$ and $g(O)$ was -0.1392 gal (0.0716 gal), and that for the left spinning was 0.0029 gal (0.0663 gal).

Furthermore, for $g(R) - g(L)$ is -0.1421 gal (0.0317 gal), where $g(O)$ is the Earth's gravity-acceleration at Sendai (latitude=38.248N, longitude=140.847 E, height=130.0 m), and the mean value for $g(O)$ is = 980.0658 gal (0.0001 gal). The above experimental data are presented as mean value in gal and (standard deviation in gal).

The experimental results are completely free from systematic errors. Statistical evaluation has been also performed for the populations corresponding to the sample ensembles (the experimental data).

The present experiment has confirmed our previous experimental results for the weight changes of three spinning gyros: The previous experiment showed that the right-spinning caused weight decrease in proportion to the number of rotations, while the left-spinning showed no weight change. The previous report was published in Physical Review Letters, 63, 2701-2704 (1989).

Both the present and previous experiments suggest that the right-spinning generates anti-gravity, and also that the parity (the reflection symmetry on a mirror transformation) of gravity breaks down completely. The appearance of anti-gravity means the generation of positive energy from the vacuum (i.e. the ether).

Anti-gravity theory for an spinning object has been developed by Hayasaka, and published in "Proceeding of III Inter. Conf. on Space, Time, and Gravitation", held by the Russia Academy of Science, St.-Petersburg, May 21-27, 1994. The proceeding was published by "Politechnika", (6, Inzhenernaya Str., St.-Petersburg, 191011, Russia), 1995.

First Observation of Space-Time Distortion by Black Holes

In November Astronomers using NASA's Rossi X-ray Timing Explorer (RXTE) made a breakthrough announcement that they had observed a black hole literally dragging space and time around itself.

This bizarre effect is called "frame dragging" and is the first evidence to support a prediction made in 1918 using Einstein's theory of relativity. The phenomenon is distorting the orbit of hot, X-ray emitting gas near the black hole, causing the X-rays to peak at periods that match the frame dragging predictions of general relativity.

Dr Wei Cui of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology (MIT) announced the results on 6th November during the American Astronomical Society's High Energy Astrophysics Division (HEAD) meeting in Estes Park, Colorado.

"If our interpretation is correct, it could demonstrate the presence of frame dragging near spinning black holes," said Cui. "This observation is unique because Einstein's theory has never been tested in this way before."

Black holes are very massive objects with gravitational fields so intense that near them, nothing, not even light, can escape their pull. This effect shrouds the hole in darkness, and its presence can only be inferred from its effects on nearby matter. Many of the known or suspected black holes are orbiting a close "companion" star. The black hole's gravity pulls matter from the companion star, which forms a disk around the black hole as it is drawn inward by the black hole's gravity, much like soap suds swirling around a bathtub drain. Gas in this disk gets compressed and heated and emits radiation of various kinds, especially X-rays.

*Faculty of Engineering, Tohoku University, Aobaku, Sendai 980, Japan

Matsushita Communication Industrial Co. Ltd., Midoriku, Yokohama 226, Japan

The research team used these X-ray emissions to determine if frame dragging was present. The team found that the X-ray emissions were varying in intensity. By analyzing this variation, they found a pattern, or repetition, that was best explained by a perturbation in the matter's orbit. This perturbation, called a precession, occurs when the orbit itself shifts around the black hole. This is evidence for frame dragging because as the matter orbits the black hole, the space-time that is being dragged around the black hole drags the matter along with it. This shifts the matter's orbit with each revolution.

Einstein's Theory of General Relativity has been highly successful at explaining how matter and light behave in strong gravitational fields, and has been successfully tested using a wide variety of astrophysical observations. The frame-dragging effect was first predicted using general relativity by Austrian physicists Joseph Lense and Hans Thirring in 1918. Known as the Lense-Thirring effect, it has not been definitively observed thus far, so scientists will scrutinize the new reports very carefully.

Possible CIA indirect disclosure of UFO cover-up.

Word gets to me via the internet of a rather bizarre plot (if true) to "leak" information about UFOs and Government mind control projects.

According to a nameless (X), yet allegedly highly reliable Washington source with CIA connections, there are UFO and mind control implications to the recent news stories of France's refusal to extradite Ira Einhorn to the US - despite recent US requests.

Einhorn was accused of murder, but from the US to France. A story in the Washington Post alleged that Einhorn had worked for the US Government. Our source offers the rest of the story as follows;

According to X, Einhorn was deeply involved in Mind Control projects for U.S. Intelligence. Also involved in those mind control projects was Christopher "Kit" Green, M.D., Ph.D., Chief of General Motors' Research and Development Center, and reported to have been the former CIA top expert on UFO matters. (The Mind Control and UFO Cover-Up connection goes like this. Intelligence began "black projects" to attempt to match the telepathic and mind-influencing abilities of the extraterrestrials they held captive at secret underground installations. Military Intelligence coveted such powers to penetrate the mind of a subject and make him see whatever you wanted him to see.)

X reminds us that Kit Green served as a forensic expert for the prosecution at Ira Einhorn's murder trial. X suggested that Dr. Green deliberately served as the prosecution's expert in order to sabotage the prosecution's case, and thus assist Einhorn in getting acquitted. X intimated that Green's motive would be helping a fellow accomplice in Intelligence mind-control experiments, widely viewed as unethical and illegal, and perhaps assuring Einhorn's continued silence about those dark matters.

X said that his CIA source planned to provide a "leak" about the Einhorn-Green Mind Control-UFO Cover-Up connection to major newspaper reporters. That story will include additional lurid personal details about Einhorn and Green to make publicizing the "leak" irresistible. It is CIA source's strategy to create a full news media inquiry into Dr. Green's involvement in Mind Control experiments, and thus to the extraterrestrial studies which led to those Mind Control projects. This Byzantine approach to unravelling the UFO Cover-Up is a classic example of CIA strategy, in which the line between Point A and Point B resembles a snake.

Multiple knowledgeable sources confirm that there is a civil war going on within Intelligence and the military over whether to end the UFO Cover-Up. The 'conservatives' want to hang on to the status-quo for as long as possible. Their reasons include: fear of destabilizing social order [ie: their careers], fear of the public outrage when the harassment of citizens and the criminal deeds done under cover of "national security" get exposed, the need to develop ET technology, in secret, into super-weapons in case of alien attack, and the astronomical profits and kickbacks to be made from siphoning classified extraterrestrial ultra-technology into insider corporations.

The 'progressives' feel that the Cold War is over, and there is no further realistic need to hide UFO reality. Further, they believe that decades of information indicates that the extraterrestrials are benign, and that the public interest is best served by the public's being aware of what has been learned from government communication with the extraterrestrials.

X also noted that the current Capitol Hill fracture between Liberals and Conservatives has slowed down the holding of Congressional Hearings to allow former government insiders to publicly testify about UFO reality. It seems that each side wants to pin political blame for the UFO Cover-Up on the other.

Dr Richard Boylan (who posted the original article to the internet) pointed out to X that, with now ten Presidents and 25 Congresses having sanctioned the deception of the American public about UFO matters, there is enough political blame to go around for both parties.

Possible UFO Crash in Texas

On October 18th a Los Angeles radio station reported that a large number of people in El Paso, Texas heard a very loud explosion in the sky.

A meteorological scientist gave the explanation that a meteor had exploded 10,000 miles up in the atmosphere. However, a local sheriff reported that he didn't believe this because it was like "standing in a snowstorm" because "so many pieces of lightweight metal-like foil were raining down.

I've been unable to find any more information, but if I do, you can read it in future issues of Enigma.

Worldwide meditation planned for January 1998

For those of you who are aware of the currently occurring Earth changes and frequency shifts taking place within our dimension, make a note in your diaries for January 30th 1998.

A Worldwide meditation will occur, timed to start at 8.00pm GMT (3.00pm in New York). This is the fourth such 'planetary initiation' and has been termed 'The Renunciation'. It is a time to prepare the soul body for receiving the energies of Spirit directly. The energies will be pouring into the second chakra (energy center) of the planet in Egypt - the Great Pyramid.

These energies will begin a process of clearing out all of the chakras of the blocked energies held there. They will then be balanced, preparing the body to receive these powerful energies - opening us to our divine awareness.

This process began on January 23, 1997. This was the first initiation, The Birth. It was marked in the heavens with a six-pointed star formed by six planets, for the first time in over 2000 years. It marked the birth of the Christ/Buddhic Consciousness on our planet. It was the official beginning of the Aquarian Age. It began a process that will enhance and change life as we know it.

According to Archangel Gabriel, we are in a time of unprecedented change and opportunity on our planet. It is a time that has been prophesied for thousands of years. It is a time of planetary and personal Ascension.

What does that mean? It means that the consciousness and resonance of the planet is raising unlike anything in the history of our planet. How will that affect all of us? It will raise our awareness to a level of soul awareness, transcending the fear and separation of the ego. This event will happen one way or another, whether we are conscious of it or not. And we will all be affected.

Clinton exempts government from "alleged" crimes at Area 51

Under a decree signed by President Clinton, evidence which may show injury or death of workers from violations of hazardous waste laws cannot be used in a court case. Why? Matter of National Security.

What does "National Security" mean? It means that if a citizen works in a facility regarded as secret, his/her rights guaranteed under the bill of rights of the Constitution are not valid.

This Presidential Order exempts Area 51 from any Hazardous Waste Laws because of Matters of National Security. It coincidentally blocks the court case brought by Jonathan Turley, of Environmental Law Advocacy Center of George Washington University, in behalf of more than 25 workers at Area 51, for claims of injuries or deaths.

Attorney Jonathan Turley has been fighting this case in the courts without charge to the 25 Area 51 workers. It has been rumoured that funding for proceeding is being furnished by Barbra Streisand, the celebrity singer/movie-star, a former Clinton supporter.

Let's hope that this case finally gets to the U.S. Supreme Court, and shows the abuse of the big rubber stamp, which imprints --- NATIONAL SECURITY.

'Teleport' reality?

News of a startling new discovery by scientists may pave the way for the 'effects' of StarTrek becoming a reality.

The effect, known as 'quantum teleportation' was demonstrated by Austrian scientists as they destroyed bits of light in one place and made near perfect replicas appear about three feet away.

This was achieved by transferring information about a crucial physical characteristic of the original light bits, called photons. This information was picked by other photons, which took on that characteristic and so became replicas of the original.

According to Anton Zeilinger, working with colleagues at the University of Innsbruck in Austria, "Scientists might be able to achieve teleportation between atoms within a few years and molecules within a decade or so".

The process is fundamentally different from the 'Star Trek' notion of 'beaming' people from one place to another. But could teleportation be done with people? Could scientists extract information from every tiny particle in a person, transfer it to a bunch of particles elsewhere, and assemble those particles into an exact replica of the person?

There's no theoretical problem with that, several experts said. But get real.

"I think it's quite clear that anything approximating teleportation of complex living beings, even bacteria, is so far away technologically that it's not really worth thinking about it," said IBM physicist Charles H. Bennett. He and other physicists proposed quantum teleportation in 1993.

There would just be too much information to assemble and transmit, he and others said. Even if it were possible someday, it would be so expensive that "probably it's just as cheap to send the real person," said Benjamin Schumacher of Kenyon College in Gambier, Ohio.

Largest Henge circle in Britain discovered

Archaeologists say they have found the buried remains of a prehistoric timber temple twice the size of the monument at Stonehenge and just as important.

After a survey carried out at Stanton Drew stone circle in Avon, English Heritage (who also manage Stonehenge and Avebury) chief archaeologist, Dr. Geoffrey Wainwright called the discovery "the most significant in British prehistoric archaeology since the 1967 excavation of a timber temple of Durrington Walls, near Stonehenge."

The significant find was made using sensitive ground scanning techniques, used in an attempt to learn more about the three stone circles at Stanton drew.

The newly discovered henge is a near-perfect circle with an outer diameter of about 443 feet. Within the Great Circle are at least nine concentric circles that are thought to be burial pits.

"This site complex is at least of equal significance to its more famous contemporaries," Wainwright said. Sir Jocelyn Stevens, chairman of English Heritage, suggested that the complex structure was built as a "symbol of power" by people seeking to control the supernatural. More of this 'power' will be discussed in future issues of Enigma, as this discovery could play an important part in some mathematical analysis I am currently undertaking, involving sacred geometry overlays and alignments of the landscape.

English Heritage said it will examine only the remains of the temple posts, which may have stood up to 30 feet above ground. The rest of the site will not be extensively excavated, officials said, since it conforms to seven other timber temples in Britain.

Even though the site is located on 37 acres of private farmland, it will be open to the public, English Heritage said.

THINGS THAT GO TICK IN THE NIGHT

An interesting report by John Vigay

Some months ago I was settling down into my usual chair late one evening to have a quiet read when I was distracted by a regular ticking sound coming from the nearby window sill. If I turned my head just slightly then the sound disappeared.

Impossible to Ignore

At first I tried to ignore it, but this became impossible. My really absorbing book was unable to hold my full attention. After an hour or so I started to investigate where the sound was coming from. As I got nearer to the source of the sound, which was behind the curtains it stopped abruptly as soon as I started to gently move the curtain aside - so back I went to my chair. I read another page and sure enough the ticking started to distract me again. Gradually my full attention was diverted to this constant tick and the urgent need to "sort it out".

The U.T.O.

At that time (August 1997) I had no idea what a puzzling unexplained phenomenon this simple tick was to become and still is, - no less than an Unexplained Ticking Object. As a keen and conscientious student of the normal natural world the search for an explanation became more and more puzzling as one after another explanations were eliminated.

Not just hearing things!

The first reaction was to get someone else to hear it to ensure that I was not just "hearing things". (I did once hear morse code whilst half asleep in bed!) It was quite a relief when my wife, Mavis eventually heard the tick some days later. If a ufologist sees a UFO - the first reaction is to alert as many others as possible to the object witnessed, the same reaction applies to UTOs, the only difference is that the audio senses instead of the visual senses are concentrated.

Metallic and Regular

Just what is this regular tick? The closest description I can give is that of a time switch clock - rather metallic and at a regular speed of 4 ticks per second. The source of the tick was traced to a small terra-cotta hippopotamus-shaped plant holder containing a small succulent plant with tiny red flowers and fitting closely to the description of Crassula Cooperi, a native of Transvaal. This was sitting on a wide window sill facing south east. By elimination the following explanations are now discounted :-

- (1) A timing device and possibly a bomb - it was carefully moved to the end of the garden - Paul Vigay on a visit foolhardily yanked the plant out [huh hum - Ed.] - there was nothing inside the pot except the tangled dry roots of the plant. The trip down the garden had completely stopped the tick - the pot was returned to its former position. Two weeks of silence and I became confident that it was not a detonator and that I could now read in peace, then one evening, it started again.

- (2) The central heating pipes and a radiator were under the sill. They were not in use in August and in any case do not normally click or tick when they are in use.
- (3) The metabolism of the plant or the gas interchange in the fleshy leaves are not likely to produce such a constant tick day or night in all weather conditions, although the tick seems to be more persistent in warmer spells of weather.
- (4) Death watch beetle - one visitor claimed this was definitely the answer - This is not possible as it does not match up to the beetle's lifestyle at all.
- (5) A 'planted' micro-timer, bugging or other electronic device - nothing has been suspected but it is very sensitive to any movement of the curtain or the slightest touch or disturbance. If an observer stays quiet and motionless it will start up again after 30 seconds or sometimes less.
- (6) Amplifying some signal or inaudible sound being received from a distance (ie. anywhere from the next room to outer space.)

- (7) Ticks - I've no evidence that they do tick but I cannot discover why they are called ticks anyway so will discount these unpleasant relatives of the spiders.

Sceptical Witness

Usually, if we have visitors, there is not any sign of ticking but recently (7th December '97) we had three visitors, one of whom was a very sceptical person. There had been no ticking for some days past but on this morning the tick really excelled and kept ticking loudly all morning.

Still no explanation!

Our visitors had to become confirmed believers in our UTO. (quite a relief to know that we were not both going a bit peculiar as I'm sure some of our friends were beginning to wonder !) Our friends were not able to offer any explanation whatsoever and seemed as mystified as we are. They had previously heard a recording of the tick but to the sceptic this could have easily have been the gas boiler time clock which sometimes sounds similar.

And so our little tick carries on at intervals. There is not a sound whilst I am writing this and there is no regular pattern. It is very strange that it is far more sensitive to my wife. Sometimes it would stop ticking as soon as she entered the room.

Loudly Audible

At one stage my investigation made me stay up all night sitting on the other side of the room. The tick carried on all night and could be heard above the radio (classic FM with a Sibelius symphony).

Suggestions welcome....

During this vigil I read several books on noise making insects, plant acoustics, radio and wave transmission, no reference produced a remotely possible explanation. I have not yet been induced to reading about alien technology, looking up the X-files, or even writing to NASA but would welcome any reasonable explanations from Enigma readers. Meanwhile we will carry on living in harmony with our "friendly" little tick.

Conclusion

What exactly is it really sensitive to ? - Vibration, air turbulence, breath, heat, electrical fields, body auras or living things, it could be any or all of these, something makes it stop and start again, it certainly makes a very quick and sensitive response to something, maybe the plant is trying to communicate - that would be worth a letter to the New Scientist.

Some say wait until it ticks and empty the plant and contents out into a big bowl and dissect everything therein. I am reluctant to do this as it would probably be the end of the tick, if nothing was found then we would probably never find an explanation to this strange phenomenon - in any case it's almost become one of the family!

COMING SOON TO ENIGMA

We investigate the Bilderberg Group and their covert meetings. Who are they? What do they plan?

Next Issue will also see another World Exclusive, when I release some of my ongoing research findings for the first time. This will show links, not only between the ancient Mayan's and Egyptians, but also with the ancient people's of England.

I also have a huge number of book reviews, CD Rom reviews and breaking news items to interest readers.

Please feel free to write and share your own experiences.

Time: 10.05pm

At approximately 10:05 pm on Friday 14th November 1997, Dr. Ted Loder and Tony Craddock were checking out new nightscopes from Tony's house overlooking the Santa Barbara Channel. Ted was using an ITT Night Mariner (Model G3) and Tony a Litton NightMate (Model Nav3) each with a light magnification of 30,000 to 50,000x.

They both happened to be looking through the nightscopes at Jupiter, which was about ten degrees above the horizon and over the island of San Miguel. Simultaneously they both saw a set of lights near Jupiter in the shape of a large triangle silently flying eastward down the Santa Barbara Channel.

They followed it for about six seconds until it disappeared behind some trees. Both realized that the visible lights were on the outside edges of a large craft which was not itself visible in the night scopes.

A few seconds after the initial recognition, both saw the craft tilt slightly on its side so that its triangular shape could be more clearly seen. Its shape was delineated by five to eight lights along its edges clearly visible through the nightscopes. Ted Loder counted five or six lights in the shape of a triangle seen partly on its side, while Tony Craddock saw an additional one or two lights in the center towards the rear, making it appear chevron or boomerang shaped. Tony had the clearer nightscope which may explain why he was able to see the extra lights. Both had the impression that it was not lights independently flying in formation but a solid craft. The length of the craft appeared to be longer than the sword on Orion's belt and shorter than Orion's belt itself.

The craft was not visible with the naked eye and was not seen by the two other people who were present without nightscopes.

It was later estimated that the craft travelled through a visible arc of 75 degrees in about 6 seconds. It was estimated that the craft was at a distance of 5-10 miles, which would have meant it was travelling at approximately 4000-8000 mph.

Both Ted Loder and Tony Craddock are members of CSETI (Center for the Study of Extraterrestrial Intelligence), and attended CSETI's Congressional Briefing on UFO/ET in Washington DC on April 9th of this year. Dr. Loder is a Professor of Earth Sciences at the University of New Hampshire. Tony Craddock is President of an international petroleum consulting company and co-ordinates Santa Barbara's CSETI Working Group.

Space Shuttle Reports Near Miss With UFO!

WASHINGTON - The Space Shuttle Endeavour narrowly avoided a collision with a gigantic UFO during its 12-day mission in September and a top-secret NASA audio tape proves it!

That's the word from author William Kliner, who claims to have obtained a copy of the tape from highly placed NASA sources and flatly calls the incident "the most dramatic close encounter in history."

In the 23-second tape, which was recorded off one of several secret radio frequencies that NASA reserves for classified conversations with space shuttle astronauts, Commander David Walker is heard to say:

"Bogey at 3 o'clock . . . God . . . what is it? My God - it's coming right at us . . ."

NASA: What's there?

Walker: THERE'S NO WAY! Oh God! Get back. MOVE!"

NASA: Endeavour! Endeavour! What . .

. explain . . .

Walker: What the . . . where are we? Where is it? Where . . . it's gone. IT'S GONE. Not (unintelligible) . . . UFO. Spacecraft . . . huge . . . intelligent . . . OVER THERE!

NASA: Endeavour. Switch . . . NOW!

The tape ends abruptly with what would appear to be a NASA order for Walker to change radio frequency.

And while nobody other than Walker, his crew and a handful of NASA officials knows exactly what happened next, the Endeavour returned to Earth safely on Sept. 18, indicating that the close encounter ended without further incident.

"This is dazzling proof that UFOs not only exist, they are piloted by extraterrestrials who are interested in our technology and possibly even mankind's ventures into space," declared Kliner, who has published hundreds of articles on America's space program over the past 25 years.

"Until now, I didn't believe in the existence of UFOs and I certainly didn't believe that extraterrestrials were visiting our planet.

"But now I know better. Space aliens actually observed our shuttle astronauts as they orbited Earth - and NASA's own tape proves it."

NASA spokesmen declined to comment on the author's report pending the outcome of what one official called "an investigation into the source of unauthorized information that might or might not have basis in fact."

Like NASA, Commander Walker and his crew - Pilot Ken Cockrell and Mission Specialists James Voss, James Newman and Michael Gernhardt - aren't talking.

But Kliner's sources say the Endeavour and crew did, in fact, avert an in-orbit collision with "a massive, walnut-shaped spacecraft of unknown origin."

"From what I understand, the spacecraft was the size of a small city and glowed bright green as it approached the shuttle," he continued.

"At some point during the encounter, the UFO veered off course to avoid a collision.

"As far as I know," he continued, "there was no contact between the UFO and the shuttle. If there was contact, my sources are unaware of it."

Global Surveyor's Launch Monitored By UFOs?

This is a rather old, but very interesting item that I just found on Florida Today's Internet site. URL:

FLORIDA TODAY Space Online

(For February 28, 1997)

By Billy Cox

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. - OK - even though the Air Force is now 39 days late in responding to its own Freedom of Information Act deadline, and its public relations officer at Los Angeles Air Force Base isn't returning calls, I still don't buy the conspiracy stuff. I'd have to be paranoid, and I'm glad I'm not one of those raving lunatics.

ON THE OTHER HAND ... !!!

On Nov. 7 last year, shortly after 11 a.m., Jim Graw, a security guard at Aquarina in Melbourne Beach, was glancing east when he became transfixed by two elliptical metallic objects, each roughly the size of a jumboliner, cruising north at a leisurely pace along the shoreline. Glinting sunlight, they were visible for about a minute, not even a mile away. Graw was amazed. "I couldn't identify them. They were definitely round and disc-shaped," he said.

Less than an hour later, after watching the Delta rocket's first-stage separation that launched Mars Global Surveyor from Cape Canaveral Air Station, Wes Clark noticed a white pinpoint of light entering the picture some 40 degrees above the horizon. Several moments later, the blip was joined by two identical UFOs, which proceeded to perform strange manoeuvres in a triangulated formation.

At 12:16 p.m., as Clark and perhaps a dozen fellow USA Flight Systems employees watched from the parking lot of the space station processing facility, what appeared to be a single jet fighter slashed in from the south, briefly scattering the UFOs. With the jet banking and cutting "lazy figure-8s, as if it was on an intercept pattern," Clark took meticulous notes on the chronology of events, which included an entry at 1:05 p.m. listing a pass by a "high-flying aircraft with a short fuselage and long wing and white on the bottom, going from northeast to southwest, as if tracking the objects."

Clark finally went back to work at 1:08 p.m. because he'd spent his entire lunch break in the parking lot. A while later, Clark got a "holy cow!" phone call from a buddy, space shuttle inspector Scott Cook at the logistics building, several miles away.

Cook had seen the objects, too. "They looked like three stars, in broad daylight, arranged like a pyramid, before they started moving," Cook said later. "When I showed them to other people, they said, 'Oh, they're probably just weather balloons.' But I didn't think weather balloons could move like that. And I thought the winds would've carried them away by then, because they were there for an hour."

Cook also saw the first jet ("I'm not sure what it was - an F-15 maybe, or it could've been a T-38") as well as the second, which he surmised was a U-2. Cook watched the show until 2:30. He counted eight U-2 passes. During the last, Cook says one of the UFOs began following the U-2. Cook says he also watched two more jets streaking into the area, apparently surveying the objects. "The (UFO) I got the best view of, the bottom one, looked like a perfectly round star," Cook says.

Rawinsond and/or jimsphere weather balloons? Or something else?

A circuitous maze of queries meandered from the Lockheed Missiles and Space Ops to the Eastern Test Range to the Federal Aviation Authority before finally crunching into a FOIA request for data records with the USAF in Washington, D.C. They've got this really cool picket fence of Defence Support Program satellites that can allegedly track the nose hairs of a garden snake. The most interesting lock-ins - the unknowns that enter the atmosphere and then veer out again - are rumoured to be called "fastwalkers," although that term doesn't officially exist.

Well, you know how zany things can get in Bureaucracy World, being understaffed, underfinanced, overworked and all that. No surprise here that USAF/Washington exceeded its legal mandate to acknowledge receipt of my FOIA within 10 days by nearly two weeks. Like, when was the last time any of those paper-pushers got a raise, anyway?

The last I heard, the FOIA had been peddled off on LAAFB, which wrote on Dec. 20, "We will provide your office with the determination and/or the current status of your FOIA request on or before 20 Jan 97." Just for grins, LAAFB even included a phone number.

You know, they probably were weather balloons, after all. But this is how weird rumours get started. I'm glad I'm mature and professional enough not to participate.

Amazing Daylight Costa Rica UFO Sightings ...

... At Least A Dozen Craft Filmed By TV Crews
12-26-97

MEXICO CITY (Itar-Tass) - The Costa Rican mass media reported on Thursday that unidentified flying objects were spotted the day before in the country's air space over Golfito District, which is 330 kilometres to the south of San Jose. However, TV cameramen were unable to film them as they did on Monday.

On December 22 cameramen from two local television channels filmed at least a dozen "flying saucers" in the sky south of the Costa Rican capital. Before the eyes of hundreds of people, they made zigzag manoeuvres for several minutes. Flight controllers of the International Juan Santamaria Airport counted "approximately fifty thousand traces" of their movements. Some car drivers stopped to watch the phenomenon.

According to Ufologist Carlos Vilchez, most remarkable is the fact that these UFOs appeared in daytime, that they were seen by hundreds of people and were filmed by TV cameramen. He also expressed the view that an influx of UFOs into the air space of this Central American country could be expected within the next two months.

About ten "saucers" were watched by hundreds of people over San Jose exactly one month ago. They flew over the city for several minutes. They were also filmed by TV cameramen.

UFO Control System and The New World Order by Noah's Dove

UFO: World Tour

UFO's are showing up over more and more cities, Reno, Mexico city, Phoenix, Las Vegas, Paris, and over many countries: Mexico, England, Canada, Brazil, United States, Israel, Scotland, Australia, South Africa, Japan, China, etc. according to UFO ROUND UP Database and web site...They seem to be appearing for longer periods of time and flaps are more frequent. As researcher Lee Elders puts it "They seem to be on a world tour".

A Control System and New World Order

The question is why?...Perhaps the following article will give some reasons and a warning about what appears to be a "Control System," as Dr. Jacques Vallee calls it. The UFO phenomenon may be preparing the human race for further contact and a New Order on this planet.

Bilderberg Propaganda?

More recently, according to USA Today and other newspapers, Henry Kissinger, in an address to the Bilderbergers meeting at Evian, France on 21 May 1992, stated, "Today Americans would be outraged if U.N. troops entered Los Angeles to restore order. Tomorrow they will be grateful! This is especially true if they were told there was an outside threat from beyond, whether real or promulgated, that threatened our very existence. It is then that all the peoples of the world will plead with world leaders to deliver them from this evil. The one thing that every man fears is the unknown. When presented with this scenario, individual rights will be willingly relinquished for the guarantee of their well being granted to them by their world government."

Who is ready for the Truth?

It seems evident to me that some of our leaders know a lot that many people are not ready to hear. Perhaps our alien visitors can decide who is ready for the truth and who is not. Perhaps it is a matter of individual choice.

Close Encounters of the Third Kind

Millions of people in many parts of the world are having sightings and sometimes encountering UFO entities in one way or another. They have had what is called a "Close Encounter of the Third or Fourth Kind", a term used by ufologist J. Allen Hynek. There is also growing public interest in this phenomenon due to media attention. Some Contactees and Abductees ...as well as some claiming to be channelling

ET's or establishing contact through remote viewing are being revealed the following kinds of information:

☞ We are not alone in the Universe. We are told - this earth has been visited many times in the past and presently by different types of extra-terrestrials. These ET's have been involved with our creation, evolution, religions, myths, beliefs, etc.

☞ Some contactees are being told that humans are the consequence of ET encounters with earlier forms of man. Without this contact man never would have evolved to the point we have. Rael, the chosen prophet and messiah of the Raelian movement was told as a contactee, that mankind was created by a group of ET's called the Elohim using advanced genetic engineering in laboratories⁴. Others who believe in the messages of the Pleiadians are told, that the Pleiadian ancestors were some of the Original Planners of Earth who seeded this and other worlds.¹² What ever the explanation we are told ET's are involved with our evolution and creation.

☞ Some contactees are being told that: "Humankind stands now in the transitional period before the dawn of a New Age. (With peace, love and understanding, the people of Earth will see a great new era begin to dawn.) The Space Beings are here to teach, to help awaken the human spirit, to help humankind rise to higher levels of vibration so that the people of Earth may be ready to enter new dimensions¹. We are poised for a quantum leap forward on both the biological and spiritual levels. The human soul will evolve.

☞ "If the Earthlings should not raise their vibratory rate within a set period of time, severe earth changes and major cataclysms will take place. (Such disasters will not end the world, but shall serve as cataclysmic crucibles to burn off the dross of unreceptive humanity. Those who die in such dreadful purgings will be allowed to reincarnate on higher levels of development so that their salvation will be more readily accomplished through higher teachings on a higher vibratory level.)"²

☞ Others are being told that the receptive or chosen will be saved by benign ET's and their ships when these disasters take place. Some like the Raelians are told they will experience some kind of eternal existence through further genetic engineering ie. cloning.

☞ A major leap in consciousness and evolution is about to take place: Crop circles, UFO sightings and contactee and abductee experiences are preparing those who are receptive of these changes. Events such as the Harmonic Convergence are lifting the veil so the Higher Galactic intelligences of the universe will be able to channel their energies and influences to facilitate the shift towards a New Age.¹² fingered claw marks, and triangles of every possible sort.

★ Female abductees often suffer serious gynaecological problems after their alien encounters, and sometimes these problems lead to cysts, tumours, cancer of the breast and uterus, and to hysterectomies.

★ A surprising number of abductees suffer from serious illnesses they didn't have before their encounters. These have led to surgery, debilitation, and even death from causes the doctors can't identify.

★ Abductees often encounter more than one sort of alien during an experience, not just the greys. Every possible combination of grey, reptoid, insectoid, blond, and widow's peak have been seen during single abductions, aboard the same craft or in the same facility.

★ Abductees report being scoffed at, jeered at, and threatened by their alien captors. Painful genital and anal probes are performed... Unknown fluids are injected into some abductees.

★ Abductees-"virgin" cases- report being taken to underground facilities where they see grotesque hybrid creatures, nurseries of hybrid humanoid fetuses, and vats of coloured liquid filled with parts

☞ Evidence for these claims are: the many abductee and contactee experiences with similar stories and messages, physical scars, hybrid babies, recognition of some kind of symbolic or hieroglyphic language etc. There seems to be, according to researchers increasing cases worldwide of UFO sightings, crop or landing circles, animal mutilations, abductions of men, women and children.

☞ According to Dr. Karla Turner, who has worked with over 400 abduction cases and has written the book "Into the Fringe", says if abduction accounts can be believed and there is confirmation of many of these facts with other researchers - the abduction phenomena includes some of the following details: from -UFO Universe, Spring 1993. Aliens - Friends or Foes by Dr. Karla Turner:

★ Aliens can alter our perceptions of our surroundings.

★ Aliens can control what we think we see. They can appear to us any number of guises and shapes.

★ Aliens can be present with us in an invisible state and can make themselves only partially visible.

★ Abductees receive marks on their bodies other than the well-known scoops and straight-line scars. These other marks include single punctures, multiple punctures, large bruises, three-and four of human bodies.

- * Abductees report seeing other humans in these facilities being drained of blood, being mutilated, flayed, and dismembered, and stacked, lifeless like cords of wood. Some abductees have been threatened that they, too, will end up in this condition if they don't co-operate with their alien captors.
- * Aliens come into homes and temporarily remove young children, leaving their distraught parents paralysed and helpless. In cases where a parent has been able to protest, the aliens insist that "The children belong to us."
- * Aliens have forced their human abductees to have sexual intercourse with aliens and even with other abductees while groups of aliens observe these performances. In such encounters, the aliens have sometimes disguised themselves in order to gain the cooperation of the abductee, appearing in such forms as Jesus, the Pope, certain celebrities, and even the dead spouses of the abductees.
- * Aliens perform extremely painful experiments or procedures on abductees, saying that these acts are necessary but give no explanation why.....Painful genital and anal probes are performed, on children as well as adults.

- * Aliens make predictions of an imminent period of global chaos and destruction. They say that a certain number of humans...will be "rescued" from the planet in order to continue the species, either on another planet or back on earth after the destruction is over. Many abductees report they don't believe their alien captors and foresee instead a much more sinister use of the "rescued" humans.

"In every instance from this list, there are multiple reports from unrelated cases, confirming that such bizarre details are not the product of a single deranged mind. These details are convincing evidence that, contrary to the claims of many UFO researchers, the abduction experience isn't limited to uniform pattern of events. This phenomenon simply can't be explained in terms of cross-breeding experiments or scientific research into the human physiology....."

Before we allow ourselves to believe in the benevolence of the alien interaction, we should ask, do enlightened beings need to use the cover of night to perform good deeds? Do they need to paralyse us and render us helpless to resist? Do angels need to steal our fetuses? Do they need to manipulate our children's genitals and probe our rectums? Are fear, pain, and deception consistent with high spiritual motives?"

SOME PHILOSOPHICAL AND OTHER PROBLEMS WITH THESE MESSAGES

While there seems to be evidence for UFO related activities as mentioned above, perhaps there are other possible explanations. There seem to be, from reports and research, components which parallel paranormal, psychic, and spiritualistic manifestations, etc.^{5,6}. Many UFO abductees, contactees and researchers, for instance, believe there is an interdimensional or multidimensional quality to the UFO phenomena and related experiences. Although the UFO phenomenon may appear real enough, it also could be a holographic illusion or a transmutation of matter and energy. Perhaps certain intelligences have the power to shape matter and spirit. Some ufos and their occupants seem to have an ability to shape shift and appear and disappear.^{5,6}

Dr. J. Allen Hynek suggested the phenomenon appears to be more psychic than extra-terrestrial and perhaps comes from a parallel world. This also seems to be Dr. Jacques Vallee's explanation.^{6,9}

Dr. Vallee also notes that there are authoritarian overtones to some of the messages given to contactees⁸ ie. democracy is obsolete, elections should be done away with⁴, racist ideologies are encouraged - some have more alien DNA etc., a New World Order is needed and will be set up with alien help. He also believes that some kind of control system is being set up by the UFO phenomenon which challenges our traditions and human beliefs systems.^{6,8}

Many abductees report implants and feel they are being manipulated for some unknown purpose that's yet to be revealed.

New Age Philosophies

Much of the messages given to abductees and contactees seem to be New Age in philosophical orientation and language: there are no moral absolutes, reincarnation is taught, monastic beliefs such as a vague "kinship with the Cosmos and it's oneness with the Universe or the Universe as a supreme being" are common, we are being told that "we stand on the precipice of a quantum leap forward on both a biological and spiritual level." Man is or is becoming God...etc.^{3,13}

Who defines good or evil?

If man is one with the cosmos or some impersonal concept of God there cannot be a basis for truth or ethics. The impersonal, as such, is silent about such things. There is no basis for saying anything is right or wrong if all is one with God. What you are left with is total relativism or the arbitrary absolutes of the controllers who ever they may be. "If All is One, good and evil are reconciled, then one can do nothing bad; thus Manson was only acting logically....the fact that Manson's followers knew him as both Satan and Christ highlights the collapse of distinctions between good and evil under moral relativity".¹³

As well, finite alien creators cannot provide sufficient absolutes. You have the same problems as pagan polytheism

- the gods are too small to account for the creation of the universe and not good enough to provide a basis of morals and truth. Is abducting and raping women okay if extra-terrestrials do it? Also, why all the authoritarian overtones to some of the messages? Do they really have our best interest in mind or is there evidence of some kind of control system?

Rael and The Elohim

There are several alien types taking credit for the creation of man and now some contactees like Rael and Benjamine Cream are claiming to be prophets of some messianic authority. In fact Rael is claiming to be the new final prophet and chosen "Messiah" of this age...chosen by a group of extra-terrestrials who call themselves the Elohim who told Rael that they created the human race through genetic engineering. Rael has over 35,000 followers world wide who call themselves Raelians...and they wish with the Elohim's help, to usher in a world government ruled by an authoritarian elite.⁴

Matrea

Cream is promoting another "messiah" he calls "Maytrea". Full page ads in newspapers around the world have announced that this world teacher is in the world to-day. Cream is also convinced that the intelligences behind the crop circle phenomena are paving the way for the soon unveiling of his messiah who will usher in a New World Order and a New Age.

Skye Ambrose, a famous abductee who was "born again" as she said, as a result of her encounter with a strange "grey" type of alien with bright sparkling eyes, predicted at a recent UFO conference in Bellevue, Washington; that "evolution was entering a "peak cycle" that will create a New Order on the planet.

Polarization is occurring on this planet to separate those who will accept the message and evolve toward Unity and Oneness and self-realized Godhood and those who will not not."

Messages to Mankind

Many alien prophecies to contactees of the 50's or to-day have failed to come true or appear to be outright lies.¹⁴

Many contactees and abductees to-day are again delivering warnings of coming earth changes and disasters along with promises of help from aliens...they feel chosen to deliver a message to mankind ...the prophecies may be creating a false hope and dependency in their abductors who they know little about.

A New Golden Age? ...or Slavery?

So what are we dealing with? New Age aliens with some promise of a golden age or some unimaginable deception to enslave undiscerning minds. The evidence seems to point to the latter. There have been many false messianic claims and those foolish enough to repeat history by following the voices of deceiving entities have been warned to "beware of false prophets and Christs who come disguised as sheep but underneath are ravenous wolves".¹⁰ We should be reminded of the likes of Adolf Hitler who not long ago promised a New Age to unsuspecting Germans.

Aliens or Demons?

Whitley Strieber, in a recent issue of the monthly MUFON Journal, Sept. 93, states, "I've come away from this experience convinced of one thing: if there aren't demons out there, there might as well be, because these guys are indistinguishable from demons. Indistinguishable. To see them, to look into their eyes, is to be less - forever.....". Strieber seems to swing from horror to naive trust.. you see this in his books and statements to the public. Perhaps, he is not so sure of the visitor's intentions.

Perhaps we should heed the old warning; 'If, anyone says to you then, "Look, here is the Christ" or, "He is there", do not believe it; for false Christ and false prophets will arise and produce great signs and portents, enough to deceive even the chosen , if that were possible."¹¹

Why should we be concerned?

Some UFO researchers suggest that perhaps the so called 'aliens' aren't much of a threat, after all if they have been around for this long and have not taken over then why should we be concerned. However, if they are not what they appear to be, and the phenomenon has other potentials and realities which include: deception, false messianic claims, dangerous ideologies, the formation of cults, etc., then for historical, social and political reasons we should not abandon our need for discernment and caution.

Here are some great UFO quotes that shed light on the deceptive nature of the "alien" presence.

"But the UFO phenomenon simply does not behave like extraterrestrial visitors. It actually moulds itself in order to fit a given culture."

-John Ankerberg, The Facts on UFOs and Other Supernatural Phenomena, p. 10

"Human beings are under the control of a strange force that bends them in absurd ways, forcing them to play a role in a bizarre game of deception."

-Dr. Jacques Vallee, Messengers of Deception, p. 20

"We are dealing with a multidimensional parapsychical phenomenon which is largely indigenous to planet earth."

-Brad Steiger, [cited in] Blue Book Files Released in Canadian UFO Report, Vol. 4, No. 4, 1977, p. 20

"We are part of a symbiotic relationship with something which disguises itself as an extra-terrestrial invasion so as not to alarm us."

-Terrence McKenna [from a lecture]

"One theory which can no longer be taken very seriously is that UFOs are interstellar spaceships."

-Arthur C. Clarke, New York Times Book Review, 07/27/75

"There seems to be no evidence yet that any of these craft or beings originate from outer space."

-Gordon Creighton, Official 1992 Flying Saucer Review Policy Statement

"A large part of the available UFO literature is closely linked with mysticism and the metaphysical. It deals with subjects like mental telepathy, automatic writing and invisible entities as well as phenomena like poltergeist [ghost] manifestation and 'possession.' Many of the UFO reports now being published in the popular press recount alleged incidents that are strikingly similar to demonic possession and psychic phenomena."

-Lynn E. Catoe, UFOs and Related

Subjects: USGPO, 1969; prepared under AFOSR Project Order 67-0002 and 68-0003

"UFO behaviour is more akin to magic than to physics as we know it... the modern UFOnuts and the demons of past days are probably identical."

-Dr. Pierre Guerin, FSR Vol. 25, No. 1, p. 13-14

"The UFO manifestations seem to be, by and large, merely minor variations of the age-old demonological phenomenon..."

-John A. Keel, UFOs: Operation Trojan Horse, p. 299

"Studies of flying saucer cults repeatedly show that they are part of a larger occult social world."

-Stupple & McNeece, 1979 MUFON UFO Symposium Proceedings, p.49

"The 'medical examination' to which abductees are said to be subjected, often accompanied by sadistic sexual manipulation, is reminiscent of the medieval tales of encounters with demons. It makes no sense in a sophisticated or technical framework: any intelligent being equipped with the scientific marvels that UFOs possess would be in a position to achieve any of these alleged scientific objectives in a shorter time and with fewer risks."

-Dr. Jacques Vallee, Confrontations, p. 13

"The symbolic display seen by the abductees is identical to the type of initiation ritual or astral voyage that is embedded in the [occult] traditions of every culture...the structure of abduction stories is identical to that of occult initiation rituals...the UFO beings of today belong to the same class of manifestation as the [occult] entities that were described in centuries past."

-Dr. Jacques Vallee citing the extensive research of Bertrand Meheust [Science-Fiction et Soucoupes Volantes (Paris, 1978); Soucoupes Volantes et Folklore (Paris, 1985)], in Confrontations, p. 146, 159-161

"[The occultist] is brought into intelligent communication with the spirits of the air, and can receive any knowledge which they possess, or any false impression they choose to impart...the demons seem permitted to do various wonders at their request."

-G.H. Pember, Earth's Earliest Ages and Their Connection with Modern Spiritualism and Theosophy (1876), p. 254

"These entities are clever enough to make Strieber think they care about him. Yet his torment by them never ceases. Whatever his relationship to the entities, and he increasingly concludes that their involvement with him is something 'good,' he also remains terrified of them and uncertain as to what they are."

-John Ankerberg, The Facts on UFOs and Other Supernatural Phenomena, p. 21

"I became entirely given over to extreme dread. The fear was so powerful that it seemed to make my personality completely evaporate... Whitley ceased to exist. What was left was a body and a state of raw fear so great that it swept about me like a thick, suffocating curtain, turning paralysis into a condition that seemed close to death...I died and a wild animal appeared in my place."

-Whitley Strieber, Communion, p. 25-26

"Increasingly I felt as if I were entering a struggle that might even be more than life and death. It might be a struggle for my soul, my essence, or whatever part of me might have reference to the eternal. There are worse things than death, I suspected... so far the word demon had never been spoken among the scientists and doctors who were working with me... Alone at night I worried about the legendary cunning of demons... At the very least I was going stark, raving mad."

-Whitley Strieber, Transformation, p. 44-45

"I wondered if I might not be in the grip of demons, if they were not making me suffer for their own purposes, or simply for their enjoyment."

-Whitley Strieber, Transformation, p. 172

"I felt an absolutely indescribable sense of menace. It was hell on earth to be there [in the presence of the entities], and yet I couldn't move, couldn't cry out, couldn't get away. I'd lay as still as death, suffering inner agonies. Whatever was there seemed so monstrously ugly, so filthy and dark and sinister. Of course they were demons. They had to be. And they were here and I couldn't get away."

-Whitley Strieber, Transformation, p. 181

"Why were my visitors so secretive, hiding themselves behind my consciousness. I could only conclude that they were using me and did not want me to know why...What if they were dangerous? Then I was terribly dangerous because I was playing a role in acclimatizing people to them."

-Whitley Strieber, Transformation, p. 96

ORTK UK Start 1998 UFO Campaign

Operation Right To Know (UK), was founded by John Holman in 1993, following closely in the steps of the main ORTK campaign, already running in the U.S.

I have had the pleasure to help John on a number of occasions, including the successful 1993 London Rally and Demonstration (see Enigma 2). Due to personal circumstances, John has decided to take a back seat to running the UK side of the operations.

However, I have decided that it would be sad to see the end of the campaign John put so many hours of dedication into, so I am going to continue the campaign until such a point that he feels he may want to continue the excellent campaign that he started.

I hope to resurrect ORTK UK during 1998, starting with an open letter to Tony Blair P.M. which I have re-produced on the following page. If you would like to help, or think we could organise another London demo during 1998, please contact me now.

Mr Tony Blair,
Prime Minister,
10 Downing Street,
London.

13th January 1998

An Open Letter

I am writing on behalf of Operation Right To Know (ORTK) UK, part of an International 'grass-roots' organisation lobbying the governments of the world to release information relating to Unidentified Flying Objects (UFOs) for public consumption. As you are no doubt aware, there exists undeniable evidence to support the claim that Intelligent Extraterrestrial Entities have been visiting our Earth for a number of years. 1997 marked the 50th anniversary of two of the most researched UFO events in history; the sighting by Kenneth Arnold in June, 1947 of nine 'flying saucers' whilst piloting his plane over Washington State, and the controversial Roswell crash in the New Mexico desert of 2nd July 1947. The sheer weight of the evidence, including eye witness reports from reliable people demands that the US Government tell the truth about what really crashed at Roswell - instead of making the dismissive claim that it was a weather balloon.

Now, in 1998, more people than ever before believe in the existence of intelligent life beyond our own planet. This has been helped not least by popular television programmes such as the "X Files" and factual documentaries including "Strange but True" and "Sightings", but also by the growing number of people filming anomalous events on home video cameras - now much more widely available than in the past. A recent poll conducted by CNN revealed that 54% of the American Public believe that intelligent life exists outside Earth, whilst a recent British television phone-in poll indicated that 92% of the British viewers believed in the existence of UFO's.

Apollo astronauts now number the people demanding answers. Even in the UK, every year hundreds of UFOs are sighted and reported by civilians, military personnel and commercial pilots. Surely one of the ideals envisioned by New Labour is to allay people's fears and become open and honest with the population. A government which hides such obvious, and seemingly 'fringe' information can hardly be trusted to tell the truth with more 'mainstream' concerns.

The argument that the MOD is not interested unless a military threat is posed, is also un-reassuring to the British public. Did you know that in 1989 the Belgian Airforce detected two UFOs flying over Belgian airspace and launched two F16 fighter planes to intercept. Colonel De-Broer, chief of the Belgian airstaff later gave a press conference in which he announced that "no human technology could perform like that", when the UFO's out-maneuvred the F16's. This event, witnessed by nearly two hundred people and detected on radar, occurred only six minutes from British airspace. It is either a worrying lack of security, or a lie that the British MOD denied any knowledge of the incident. What if the object was an incoming missile? This is surely a top security issue.

Another well-publicised event took place at the Bentwaters airforce base in 1980, at the time occupied by the United States Airforce. Even US documents released under the US Freedom of Information Act describe a crash which occurred on December 21st 1980, involving non Earthly technology. This event has also been covered up by the British Government.

I urge you, as Prime Minister, and as responsible to the British people to investigate and make yourself aware of the evidence and to make it available for public research and evaluation. If you are not personally aware of the events I have described above, merely snippets from my database, I urge you to make further enquiries and to evaluate the evidence and ask questions yourself. After all, as more and more evidence becomes publicly available via UFO clubs around the country, public meetings & demonstrations and the global telecommunications highway, The Internet, the British public will not be satisfied by blanket denials for much longer.

I would welcome any comments you may have, and may I finish by stating that I would be more than willing to help you to investigate and expand your own understanding in the subject, by answering any questions you may have, or pointing you to further evidence available. Especially as some people would claim that not even Prime Ministers and Presidents are privy to a lot of policies decided at a 'higher level'.

Yours sincerely,

Paul Vigay,
United Kingdom Co-Ordinator, Operation Right to Know (ORTK)

"Special Offer to Clubs and Shops"

Enigma is now available with a quantity discount for shops wishing to stock it, clubs who wish to pass savings onto their members, or raise funds for their local group.

If you buy ten or more copies of a single issue, the price is just £1.20 per issue. This represents a saving of 80p per issue and can raise £8.00 profit for your club, or alternatively, provide your members with a good bargain.

To take advantage of this offer simply order ten (or more) copies from the address below, enclosing a cheque for the relevant amount.

I.R.C.U.P. UFO DATABASE

The Independent Research Centre for Unexplained Phenomena now offer a complete catalogue of UFO, Crop Circle, Mars Face, Ancient Technology, Government Cover-ups and associated subjects database. This currently consists of over 1500 documents.

A complete, up-to-date index of all documents is now available for only £5.00.

Individual documents can then be ordered for varying prices (depending upon the length, at 25p per A4 page + postage)

Subscription Details

Enigma is published four times a year (not necessarily quarterly) and is available on subscription for £8.00(UK) per year (4 issues) within the UK or for £15.00(UK) to the rest of the world.

Please make cheques/POs made payable to "Enigma Publications" and send to the address below, stating which issue you would like to start with.
